

MISTER INSIGNIFICANT

Verse 1

He's the man who has to stand up on the bus
He's the man who hardly ever makes a fuss
He's the man who buys a paper every day
He's the man who hasn't really much to say
He's the man whose life is oh so innocent
And his name is Mister Insignificant

Verse 2

He's the man who waits there quiet in the queue
You don't notice and he doesn't notice you
He's the man who you just shouldered in the street
He's the man who you will never ever meet
He's the man whose life is not magnificent
And his name is Mister Insignificant

Chorus

He's the man who we don't know
So we never stop to say hello
Wears an unfamiliar face
Caught up in the mad rat race
He's sooo human... you know

Verse 3

He's the man who cruises in the middle lane
He's as close as you can get to being sane
He's the man who's hardly ever late for work
And he thinks that people think that he's a jerk
And he cries when he thinks death is imminent
And his time on Earth is insignificant

Repeat Chorus

Yeah, he's the man who we don't know
So we never stop to say hello
Wears an unfamiliar face
Caught up in the mad rat race
He's sooo human... you know

Verse 4

Well one day somethin' in his head just snaps
Wreaks havoc with this momentary lapse
His face is splashed on every TV screen
The maddest guy the world has ever seen
And the rating points are just magnificent
And he's no longer insignificant

Repeat Chorus

Yeah he's the man who we all know
But we'd never stop to say hello
Wearing that familiar face
A victim of the mad rat race
He's sooo human... you know
He cannot beee ... human... you know.
